

THE GUTS OF THE BEAST

New York City 9/11/2016

I named this 2000-2002 series The Guts Of The Beast as a reflection of how I felt during its making. I had taken a steep descent into the mental structures and contents of my being, almost like an engineer would, digging into the underbelly of a very dark, complex, and elusive machinery. My canvases became the tale of the journey. When one awakes to the depths of existence and decides to leave the surface for the core, one arrives at a crux, the guts or internal circuitry of the beast.

Sixteen years after the making of this series I know that humanity has arrived at an understanding of the Universal Mechanisms of Reality-Generation. It is not yet common knowledge but it is there for whomever awakes to it. We need to understand how the Universe works in order to make an individual and practical application of it in our lives. We generate and/or perpetuate our realities through our thinking processes based on unseen logical aspects, unseen beliefs (operational systems) fed to us from birth and reinforced through mass-media culture and civilization. What we experience as reality depends on mechanisms rarely considered, questioned or known. They happen automatically and are unconsciously operated escaping our current level of attention. These abstract and invisible mechanisms are now emerging for us to recover our sovereignty in the Universe as reality generators of our experiences and consciousness. The understanding of our condition from the level of Logic will lead us into the next human revolution.
